I THE CREATION OF THE WORLD, 1:1-2:25

A The Beginning of Creation, 1:1-2

1 In the ^abeginning ^bGod created the heaven and the earth.

2 And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. ^cAnd the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

B The Days of Creation, 1:3-2:3

3 ^dAnd God said, ^eLet there be light: and there was light.

4 And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.

5 And God called the light ^fDay, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day.

6 And God said, ^gLet there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters.

7 And God made the firmament, ^hand divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were ⁱabove the firmament: and it was so.

8 And God called the firmament Heaven. And the evening and the morning were the second day.

1:1 In the beginning. Not of eternity, but of the creation of the world as described in this chapter. This marks the first break in the past endless eternity. God. Lit., Elohim, a generic term for deity as well as a proper name for the true God. It is used of pagan gods (31:30; Ex. 12:12), angels (Ps. 8:5), men (Ps. 82:6), and judges (Ex. 21:6), though most frequently of the true God. Its basic meaning is "strong one, mighty leader, supreme Deity." The form of the word is plural, indicating plentitude of power and majesty and allowing for the NT revelation of the trinity of the Godhead. Cf. note on 2:4. created. Heb. bara, used also in verses 21 and 27. The word itself does not preclude the use of preexisting material (Isa. 65:18), though none is mentioned or implied here (cf. other occurrences in Ps. 51:10; Isa. 65:17; Amos 4:13). Bara means essentially the same as asa, "to do or make" (used in v. 25 and also of the entire creative activity in Ex. 20:11 and Neh. 9:6). A third word for God's creative activity, yasar ("formed"), occurs in 2:7. the heaven and the earth. I.e., the universe.

1:2 the earth was without form, and void. Some understand a "gap" of an indeterminate period of time between verses 1 and 2, and translate "became" rather than "was." Although the Hebrew word may mean "became" (as in 19:26), the construction of the clause does not support a consecutive statement describing something that happened subsequent to verse 1 ("and") but rather describing something included in verse 1 ("but"). In other words, the initial creation was formless and empty, a condition soon remedied. See note on Isa. 45:18. The phrase means that at this point in God's creative activity the earth was yet unfashioned and uninhabited. the deep. Not a reference to the mythological Babylonian monster Tiamat, as has been alleged, but simply "waters." moved upon. I.e., in the sense of protecting and participating in the creative work (the same Hebrew word is used in Deut. 32:11).

1:3 light. Not the sun (which was created on the fourth day, v. 16), but some fixed light source outside the earth. In reference to that light, the rotating earth passed through a day-night cycle.

1:4 God divided. The first of three separations. Here, light from darkness; then sky from water (v. 7); and finally, the land from the seas (v. 9). Only when this spatial separation was complete did God pronounce everything good (v. 10). He called the finished creation very good (v. 31).

1:5 And the evening and the morning were the first day. Better, day one. Later Jewish reckoning began the day with eventide (Lev. 23:32). That may be the reason for the order here, or it may simply mean that one day-night cycle was completed. Since daytime closes at evening and the night ends with the morning, the phrase indicates that the first day and night had been completed. Evening and morning cannot be construed to mean an age, but only a day; everywhere in the Pentateuch the word day, when used (as here) with a numerical adjective, means a solar day (now calibrated as 24 hours).

1:6 a firmament. From a verb meaning "to beat out and spread out"; i.e., the open expanse of the heavens, which appeared as a vast canopy or tent above the earth.

1:7 the waters which were above. Apparently God suspended a vast body of water in vapor form over the earth, making a canopy that caused conditions on the earth to resemble those inside a greenhouse. This may account for the longevity of human life (Gen. 5) and for the tremendous amount of water involved in the worldwide flood (Gen. 6-9).

^{1:9} 9 And God said, ⁱLet the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so.

^{1:10} 10 And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God saw that it was good.

^{1:11} 11 And God said, Let the earth ^kbring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding ^lfruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so.

12 And the earth brought forth grass, and herb yielding seed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed was in itself, after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

^{1:14} 13 And the evening and the morning were the third day.

^m 14 And God said, Let there be ⁿlights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and ⁿfor seasons, and for days, and years:

15 And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth: and it was so.

^o 16 And God ^omade two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and ^pthe lesser light to rule the night: he made ^qthe stars also.

17 And God set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth,

18 And to ^rrule over the day and over the night, and to divide the light from the darkness: and God saw that it was good.

19 And the evening and the morning were the fourth day.

20 And God said, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven.

21 And ^sGod created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly, after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

22 And God blessed them, saying, ^tBe fruitful, and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas, and let fowl multiply in the earth.

23 And the evening and the morning were the fifth day.

24 And God said, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping

1:10 God called. The act of naming this and other parts of the creation was, in the Semitic world, an evidence of lordship (cf. 2 Kings 23:34). Note the significance of this in 2:19.

1:11 after his kind. There are fixed boundaries beyond which reproductive variations cannot go, but it is impossible to know whether "kind" is to be equated with families, genera, or some other category of biological classification.

1:14-19 The light source of the first day was replaced by the sun and moon. Their purposes were to distinguish day and night, to be signs (by which men get their bearings, as well as signs of judgment, Matt. 24:29), to mark off the seasons, and to give light to the earth.

1:21 great whales. Better, sea monsters. good. I.e., beautiful and in perfect ecological balance.

1:24 cattle. I.e., large, domesticated quadrupeds. creeping thing. I.e., creatures that move on the earth or close to it, having no legs or, at best, only short ones (e.g., worms, insects, and reptiles).

thing, and beast of the earth after his kind: and it was so.

25 And God made the beast of the earth after his kind, and cattle after their kind, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

1:26 26 And God said, "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and ^vlet them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

1:27 27 So God created man in his own image, ^win the image of God created he him; ^xmale and female created he them.

1:28 28 And God blessed them, and God said unto them, ^yBe fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

1:29 29 And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed; ^zto you it shall be for meat.

30 And to ^aevery beast of the earth, and to every ^bfowl of the air, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat: and it was so.

31 ^cAnd God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

2 Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and ^dall the host of them.

2 ^eAnd on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made.

3 And God ^fblessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made.

1:26 us . . . our. Plurals of majesty. image . . . likeness. Interchangeable terms (5:3) indicating that man was created in a natural and moral likeness to God. When he sinned, he lost the moral likeness, which was his sinlessness, but the natural likeness of intellect, emotions, and will he still retains (cf. 9:6; James 3:9).

1:27 man. The word is used generically here, then amplified by the phrase male and female (although Eve's physical formation is not detailed until 2:18–23).

1:28 replenish. Lit., fill. The word cannot be used to support the idea of a refilling of the earth after destruction of an earlier civilization, as some theories hold. subdue . . . have dominion. Man, as God's representative, is to rule the earth. But when he sinned, he lost the ability to do that fully. (Notice that this part of his commission is not repeated in 9:1.) See the note on Heb. 2:8 for a summary.

1:29 Man was not given meat to eat until after the Flood (9:3).

2:1 the host. In Neh. 9:6, the same Hebrew word depicts "stars"; and in 1 Kings 22:19, it refers to angels. Here, it probably means simply "all the things that God created."

2:2 he rested. I.e., He ceased or desisted from

His work. No weariness is implied. The Hebrew word is sabbath, the name of the day that later was given to Israel as a time of cessation from normal activities (Ex. 16:29; 20:10–11; Deut. 5:15; Jer. 17:21; Amos 8:5).

2:4 in the day. The creation week is not specified as a single day by this phrase; rather, without the article "the," it means "at the time," the LORD. Lit., YHWH (probably pronounced "Yahweh"), the most significant name for God in the OT. It has a twofold meaning: the active, self-existent One (since the word is connected with the verb meaning "to be," Ex. 3:14); and Israel's Redeemer (Ex. 6:6). The name occurs 6,823 times in the OT and is especially associated with God's holiness (Lev. 11:44–45), His hatred of sin (Gen. 6:3–7), and His gracious provision of redemption (Isa. 53:1, 5, 6, 10).

2:5 This sentence may begin at verse 4b: "At the time the LORD God made the earth and the heavens, then no shrub of the field was as yet in the earth . . ." The kind of plants referred to here are those requiring cultivation, which (though green plants appeared the third day, 1:11–12) did not grow until after there was a man to take care of them.

2:5 before it was in the earth, and every herb of the field before it grew: for the LORD God had not ⁱcaused it to rain upon the earth, and there was not a man ⁱto till the ground.

*2:6 6 But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground.

*2:7 7 And the LORD God formed man of the ^kdust of the ground, and ^lbreathed into his ^mnostrils the breath of life; and ⁿman became a living soul.

8 And the LORD God planted ^oa garden ^peastward in ^qEden; and there ^rhe put the man whom he had formed.

9 And out of the ground made the LORD God to grow ^severy tree that is pleasant to the sight, and good for food; ^tthe tree of life also in the midst of the garden, ^uand the tree of knowledge of good and evil.

10 And a river went out of Eden to water the garden; and from thence it was parted, and became into four heads.

*2:11 11 The name of the first is Pison: that is it which compasseth ^vthe whole land of Havilah, where there is gold;

*2:12 12 And the gold of that land is good: ^wthere is bdellium and the onyx stone.

13 And the name of the second river is Gihon: the same is it that compasseth the whole land of Ethiopia.

14 And the name of the third river is ^xHiddekel: that is it which goeth toward the east of Assyria. And the fourth river is Euphrates.

15 And the LORD God took the man, and ^yput him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it.

16 And the LORD God commanded the man, saying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat:

17 ^zBut of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, ^athou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof ^bthou shalt surely die.

18 And the LORD God said, It is not good that the man should be alone; ^cI will make him an help meet for him.

19 ^dAnd out of the ground the LORD God formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air; and ^ebrought them unto Adam to see what he would call them: and whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof.

20 And Adam gave names to all cattle, and to the fowl of the air, and to every beast of the field; but for Adam there was not found an help meet for him.

21 And the LORD God caused a ^fdeep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept: and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof;

2:6 mist. Probably caused by daily evaporation and condensation, which occurred because of the change in temperature between daytime and nighttime. Cf. note on 1:7.

2:7 Man's body was formed from small particles of the earth (the Hebrew words for man and earth are similar; cf. 1 Cor. 15:47), but his life came from the breath of God. a living soul. I.e., a living person. The phrase is also used of animals (1:21, 24). Man is distinguished from animals by being created in the image of God.

2:8 eastward in Eden. Apparently somewhere in Mesopotamia (modern Iraq), since two of the four rivers in its vicinity are the well-known Tigris (= Hiddekel) and Euphrates (v. 14). Eden means "delight."

2:9 the tree of life . . . and the tree of knowledge of good and evil were two actual trees to which God gave special significance.

2:11 The exact locations are not certain.

2:12 bdellium. A precious gum resin. onyx. A nontransparent variety of agate.

2:15-20 God told Adam to do four things: (1) dress or cultivate the garden; (2) keep it, i.e., guard its sanctity; (3) eat its fruit, except the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil but apparently including the fruit of the tree of life; (4) name the animals.

2:15 to dress it = to cultivate it.

2:18 an help meet. Better, a helper suitable to him; his counterpart (cf. 1 Cor. 11:9).

2:20 gave names. See note on 1:10.

2:21-22 ribs. Though elsewhere the Hebrew word means "side," here it means "rib" (and doubtless includes the surrounding flesh, cf. v. 23). The NT understands this as actual, factual history.

2:22 And the rib, which the LORD God had taken from man, made her a woman, and brought her unto the man.

*2:23 23 And Adam said, This is now *h*bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh: she shall be called Woman, because she was *i*taken out of Man.

*2:24 24 *i*Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh.

*2:25 25 *k*And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not *l*ashamed.

II THE SIN OF MAN, 3:1–24

A The Temptation, 3:1–7

*3:1 3 Now *m*the serpent was *n*more subtil than any beast of the field which the LORD God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?

2 And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden:

3:3 3 *o*But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.

3:4 4 *p*And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die:

*3:5 5 For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then *q*your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

6 And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, *r*and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; *s*and he did eat.

7 And *t*the eyes of them both were opened, *u*and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together, and made themselves aprons.

B The Judgments, 3:8–24

8 And they heard *v*the voice of the LORD God walking in the garden in the cool of the day: and Adam and his wife *w*hid themselves from the presence of the LORD God amongst the trees of the garden.

9 And the LORD God called unto Adam, and said unto him, Where art thou?

10 And he said, I heard thy voice in the garden, *x*and I was afraid, because I was naked; and I hid myself.

11 And he said, Who told thee that thou wast naked? Hast thou eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldst not eat?

12 And the man said, *y*The woman whom thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat.

2:23 Woman. Heb., ishshah, similar to ish (Man), reflecting the fact that woman was derived from man (though the word itself may come from a root meaning "to be soft").

2:24 This verse emphasizes the complete identification of the two personalities in marriage. The passage tells us that God instituted marriage and that it is to be monogamous, heterosexual, and the complete union of the two persons. Jesus added that it is to be permanent (cf. Mark 10:7–9).

2:25 They felt no shame until they sinned (3:7).

3:1 the serpent. Apparently a beautiful creature, in its uncursed state, that Satan used in the temptation. more subtil. I.e., clever, not in a degrading sense at this point. he said. Satan spoke through the serpent. Perhaps Eve did not realize that animals could not speak; at any rate, she was not alarmed. of every tree of the garden. The question was designed to suggest that God was not good and fair because He restricted the eating of the fruit of one of the trees.

3:5 as gods. Better, like God.

3:6 The three areas of Eve's self-deception are in the same categories of temptation as those found in 1 John 2:16. Eve was deceived; Adam ate knowingly (cf. 1 Tim. 2:14). Their sin was more than merely eating forbidden fruit; it was disobeying the revealed word of God, believing the lie of Satan, and placing their own wills above God's. Sin, with all its dreadful consequences, now entered the human race and the world in general. See note on Rom. 5:12.

3:7 A keen sense of guilt immediately followed the act of sinning.

3:8 They hid. Their intimate fellowship with God was broken.

3:13 13 And the LORD God said unto the woman, What is this that thou hast done? And the woman said, ^zThe serpent beguiled me, and I did eat.

3:14 14 And the LORD God said ^aunto the serpent, Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all cattle, and above every beast of the field; upon thy belly shalt thou go, and ^bdust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life:

3:15 15 And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between ^cthy seed and ^dher seed; ^eit shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel.

16 Unto the woman he said, I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy conception; ^fin sorrow thou shalt bring forth children; ^gand thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall ^hrule over thee.

17 And unto Adam he said, ⁱBecause thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, ^jand hast eaten of the tree, ^kof which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it: ^lcursed is the ground for thy sake; ^min sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life;

18 ⁿThorns also and thistles shall it bring forth to thee; and ^othou shalt eat the herb of the field;

3:14 The entire animal kingdom was affected by man's fall (cf. Jer. 12:4; Rom. 8:20), but the serpent's very form and movements were altered, and he was humbled (dust shalt thou eat is a symbol of humiliation, not an item of diet; cf. Mic. 7:17; Isa. 65:25).

3:15 between thy seed (the spiritual descendants of Satan; cf. John 8:44; Eph. 2:2) and her seed (those who are in the family of God). it. An individual from among the woman's seed, namely, Christ, will deal a death blow to Satan's head at the cross, while Satan (thou) will bruise Christ's heel (cause Him to suffer).

3:16 Women were condemned to suffer in childbearing. See note on 1 Tim. 2:15. thy desire may mean that the wife would have a deep attraction to her husband, perhaps to compensate for the sorrow of childbirth. Of this may mean that her desire would be to rule her husband. See 4:7, where the same word is used in this sense of ruling. he shall rule over thee. See Eph. 5:23.

3:17-19 Man is condemned to exhausting labor in order to make a living, because of a curse on the ground. (Adam worked before his fall.)

3:20 Eve = life or life-producer.

3:21 The coats of skins were God's provision for restoring Adam's and Eve's fellowship with Himself and imply slaying of an animal in order to provide them.

3:22-24 Driving Adam and Eve from the garden was both a punishment and an act of mercy, lest they should eat of the tree of life and live forever in a state of death and alienation. Cherubims. Angels who guard the holiness of God. See notes on Ezek. 1:5 and Rev. 4:6.

4:1 knew. A common euphemism for sexual relations. In Hebrew, Cain (qayin) and I have gotten (qaniti) represent a play on words. The meaning of Cain is probably "spear."

4:2 Abel means "breath" or "vanity," reflecting perhaps Eve's understanding of the import of the curse (Rom. 8:20).

4:3-4 of the fruit of the ground. A bloodless offering was not necessarily inappropriate (cf. Lev. 2:1, 4, 14, 15); it was Cain's attitude of unbelief that displeased God. See note on Heb. 11:4. fat was the richest part of the animal.

4:7 Cain is promised restored fellowship if he does well; but, if not, the effects of sin are ready to pounce (lieth) on him. Sin is pictured as a demon ready to pounce on Cain to enslave him.

4:8 See 1 John 3:12.

4:9 Cain's response was an outright lie and showed indifference to the murder he had committed.

4:10 thy brother's blood crieth unto me. I.e., for vengeance.

4:15 And the LORD set a mark upon Cain (lit., for Cain). Not some kind of mark on Cain, but a sign to reassure him of God's gracious protection of his life.

4:16 Nod means "wandering," "exile." It was an area east of Eden.

4:17 his wife. Obviously a daughter of Adam (cf. 5:4). She may have been Cain's sister, niece, or even grandniece. Since Adam's and Eve's genetic systems had no mutant genes in them, such a marriage would not be dangerous as it is today. Enoch means "consecration" or "initiation," a new beginning for Cain. city. Lit., a permanent settlement, perhaps an attempt on Cain's part to neutralize God's curse on him (v. 12). This was not necessarily the first city or settlement.

4:19 This bigamy was the first recorded violation of God's pattern of monogamy.

THE AGES OF THE PATRIARCHS

Adam	930 years	Jared	962 years

Enos	905 years	Methuselah	969 years
Cainan	910 years	Lamech	777 years
Mahalaleel	895 years	Noah	950 years

4:23-24 to my wounding. Better, for wounding me. Lamech had killed someone who tried to kill him; now he was boasting that if anyone should try to avenge the murder he would take care of himself seventy and sevenfold without any help from God such as Cain received.

4:25 Seth means "the appointed one," the substitute (for slain Abel).

5:1 This is the book . . . Cf. 2:4; 6:9; 10:1; 11:10, 27; 25:12, 19; 36:1; 37:2 for other occurrences of this phrase. It may refer to the written source that Moses used in composing Genesis. In the day. Better, At the time (cf. 2:4).

5:3 his own likeness. Now sinful, in contrast to 1:26. Each reference to a patriarch gives four details: (1) his name, (2) his age at the birth of his first son, (3) the length of his remaining life, and (4) his age at death. There are variations in the cases of Adam (v. 3), Enoch (vv. 22, 24), and Lamech (vv. 28-29). The longevity of the patriarchs (averaging 912 years, not including Enoch who did not die) may have been due to the vapor canopy (see note on 1:7), which was not dispersed until the Flood, or simply to the fact that it took some time for the effects of sin to shorten man's life span. If there are no gaps in this chronology, then 1,656 years elapsed between creation and the Flood. It is likely, however, that the genealogy is selective, resulting in gaps in the list and pushing the date of creation farther back.

IV THE HISTORY OF NOAH, 6:1–9:29

A The Causes of the Flood, 6:1–13

6 And it came to pass, ^gwhen men began to multiply on the face of the earth, and daughters were born unto them, ^{*6:1} ^gch. 1:28

2 That the sons of God saw the daughters of men that they were fair; and they ^htook them wives of all which they chose. ^{*6:2} ^hDeut. 7:3,4

3 And the LORD said, ⁱMy spirit ^{*6:3} ⁱGal. 5:16,17; ⁱPet. 3:19,20

5:22–24 Enoch is an exception to the dismal refrain (“then he died”) of this chapter. He walked (lit., walked about, i.e., lived) with God, and instead of letting him die, God took him (the same Hebrew word is used for the translation of Elijah, 2 Kings 2:3, 5; cf. Heb. 11:5). In other words, Enoch went directly to heaven without dying, as will believers who are alive at the Rapture (1 Thess. 4:17). See also note on Jude 14.

5:29 shall comfort us. I.e., by preserving a remnant in the ark. Christ would eventually come and give ultimate victory over the curse.

6:1 The earth’s population grew rapidly because of human longevity.

6:2 the sons of God. Possibly (1) the godly line of Seth, (2) ungodly kings and kinglets of that day, or, more likely, (3) a group of fallen angels who, because of this unique sin, were confined. See notes on 2 Peter 2:4 and Jude 6. The phrase “sons of God” is used in the OT almost exclusively of angels (Job 1:6; 2:1; 38:7). they took them wives. Angels do not procreate after their kind (Mark 12:25), but if these were angels, they did on this unique occasion cohabit with human women to produce human offspring.

6:3 My Spirit shall not always strive with man.

6:3 shall not always strive with man, ⁱfor that he also is flesh: yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years.

6:4 4 There were giants in the earth in those days; and also after that, when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them, the same became mighty men which were of old, men of renown.

6:5 5 And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every ^kimagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually.

6:6 6 And ^lit repented the LORD that he had made man on the earth, and it ^mgrieved him at his heart.

7 And the LORD said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man, and beast, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them.

8 But Noah ⁿfound grace in the eyes of the LORD.

9 These are the generations of Noah: ^oNoah was a just man and perfect in his generations, and Noah ^pwalked with God.

10 And Noah begat three sons, ^qShem, Ham, and Japheth.

11 The earth also was corrupt ^rbefore God, and the earth was ^sfilled with violence.

12 And God ^tlooked upon the earth, and, behold, it was corrupt; for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth.

13 And God said unto Noah, "The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them; ^vand, behold, I will destroy them with the earth.

Two interpretations are possible: (1) the reference is to the Holy Spirit striving in the sense of judging or executing judgment on mankind for its sinfulness; (2) the human spirit that God placed in human beings would not always abide (i.e., mankind was doomed to death). God would give man 120 years before the judgment of the Flood would fall.

6:4 giants. Lit., Nephilim, from a root meaning "to fall"; i.e., to fall upon others because these individuals were men of strength (only other use of this Hebrew word is in Num. 13:33). Evidently they were in the earth before the marriages of Gen. 6:2 and were not the offspring of those marriages from which came the mighty men (military men) and men of renown (of wealth or power).

6:6 it repented the LORD. Better, the LORD was sorry (not that God changed His mind).

6:8 grace or favor. Heb., chen, from a root meaning "to bend or stoop," thus condescending or unmerited favor of a superior person to an inferior one. It is sometimes used redemptively (Jer. 31:2; Zech. 12:10). This is its first occurrence. Cf. the note on lovingkindness (the other OT word for grace) on Hos. 2:19.

6:9 just . . . perfect I.e., mature or well-rounded, though not sinless.

6:14 gopher wood. Probably cypress or cedar.

6:15 Although we do not know for certain the length of the cubit mentioned here, later in history it was about 18 in. See note on 2 Chron. 32:30. A vessel of such dimensions would have a displacement of about 20,000 tons and gross tonnage of about 14,000 tons. Its carrying capacity equaled that of 522 standard railroad stock cars (each of which can hold 240 sheep). Only 188 cars would be required to hold 45,000 sheep-sized animals, leaving three trains of 104 cars each for food, Noah's family, and "range" for the animals. Today it is estimated that there are 17,600 species of animals, making 45,000 a likely approximation of the number Noah might have taken into the ark.

6:16 window (or opening). A space for light and air, measuring a cubit in height and running like a gallery around the top edge of the ark.

6:17 Though many do not believe in a worldwide flood, this verse indicates that it was (see also 7:19 and 2 Peter 3:6).

16 And they that went in, went in male and female of all flesh, ^pas God had commanded him: and the LORD shut him in.

7:2 clean . . . not clean. Here the distinction had to do with sacrifice (cf. 8:20), later with eating (Lev. 11; Deut. 14). sevens. Lit., seven seven, which may mean "seven pairs" of the clean animals, or it may indicate three pairs plus one extra.

7:4 The duration of the rain assumes a vast store of moisture suspended above the earth. See note on 1:7.

7:11 the fountains of the great deep. Subterranean waters, as well as rain, contributed to the Flood.

ark, and it was lift up above the earth.

7:18 18 And the waters prevailed, and were increased greatly upon the earth; ^rand the ark went upon the face of the waters.

7:19 19 And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth; ^sand all the high hills, that were under the whole heaven, were covered.

20 Fifteen cubits upward did the waters prevail; and the mountains were covered.

7:21 21 ^tAnd all flesh died that moved upon the earth, both of fowl, and of cattle, and of beast, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, and every man:

7:22 22 All in ^uwhose nostrils was the breath of life, of all that was in the dry land, died.

7:23 23 And every living substance was destroyed which was upon the face of the ground, both man, and cattle, and the creeping things, and the fowl of the heaven; and they were destroyed from the earth: and ^vNoah only remained alive, and they that were with him in the ark.

7:24 24 ^wAnd the waters prevailed upon the earth an hundred and fifty days.

8 And God ^xremembered Noah, and every living thing, and all the cattle that was with him in the ark: ^yand God made a wind to pass over the earth, and the waters asswaged;

8:2 2 ^zThe fountains also of the deep and the windows of heaven were stopped, and ^athe rain from heaven was restrained;

8:3 3 And the waters returned from off the earth continually: and after the end ^bof the hundred and fifty days the waters were abated.

4 And the ark rested in the seventh month, on the seventeenth day of the month, upon the mountains of Ararat.

5 And the waters decreased continually until the tenth month: in the tenth month, on the first day of the month, were the tops of the mountains seen.

6 And it came to pass at the end of forty days, that Noah opened ^cthe window of the ark which he had made:

7 And he sent forth a raven, which went forth to and fro, until the waters were dried up from off the earth.

8 Also he sent forth a dove from him, to see if the waters were abated from off the face of the ground;

9 But the dove found no rest for the sole of her foot, and she returned unto him into the ark, for the waters were on the face of the whole earth: then he put forth his hand, and took her, and pulled her in unto him into the ark.

10 And he stayed yet other seven days; and again he sent forth the dove out of the ark;

11 And the dove came in to him in the evening; and, lo, in her mouth was an olive leaf pluckt off: so Noah knew that the waters were abated from off the earth.

12 And he stayed yet other seven days; and sent forth the dove; which returned not again unto him any more.

13 And it came to pass in the six hundredth and first year, in 7:19 under the whole heaven. Better, under all the heavens. The phrase indicates a universal flood rather than a local one. The promise of 9:11, 15 confirms this. There are more than 270 flood stories from all parts of the world (see also 2 Peter 2:5; 3:6; Matt. 24:37–39).

7:24 The waters reached their highest point after 150 days, which period included the 40 days of constant rain (v. 12).

8:1 remembered. Not mere recall, but thinking about with loving concern. asswaged = subsided.

8:3 the hundred and fifty days. The same period referred to in 7:24.

8:4 Today Mount Ararat rises about 17,000 feet above sea level, though the reference here is to the mountains of Ararat, which indicates a range of mountains, not necessarily a particular peak. The ark rested on land 74 days after the end of the 150 days (cf. 7:11).

8:7 The ravin, a scavenger, would have no trouble finding food and no qualms about perching on any slimy surface, so it apparently did not return to the ark.

8:8–9 The dove would not alight in unclean places, so it returned to the ark.
